PLAGUE IN KOBE AGAIN

THE DISEASE REAPPEARS AFTER SEVERAL MONTHS.

Precautions Taken Here with the Steamship China—Suspicious Case Put Ashore at Tokio.

Plague has reappeared in Kobe, Japan, and that city is again carrying out the policy of cleaning up which was the fashion last year. It is just a year since the disease broke out in Kobe, but it was thought to have been stamped out. As no cases were reported for several months, on the 14th of last month a case was found, the patient dying on the 17th.

The quarantine officers here took the greatest precautions this morning with the steamship China. A special warning against her had been received on account of a sick Chinese passenger whom she left behind at Tokio and Dr. Amase made a careful separate examination of each of the steerage passengers before he allowed the steamer to enter the harbor.

The man who was ill on the steamer was taken on at Yokohama. He developed symptoms of bubonic plague, but the disease if plague it was, had not progressed far enough for a certain diagnosis, when the passenger was put ashore at Tokio.

The authorities at Tokio held the China for two days and did the usual fumigating. On the trip here no other suspicious cases appeared, and the steamer has a clear bill of health.

She will be closely watched at San Francisco, however, and Dr. Kinyoun will probably examine all the Asiatic passengers as carefully as did Dr. Amase here.

The news that plague had reappeared in Kobe was brought here by the China. The case that occurred on the 14th of October was in the same part of the city as the first case of last year. House cleaning under police supervision is again the order of the day.

LAST BOOTH COMPLETED. W. E. Rowell completed the voting booth of the First precinct, Fourth district on Saturday. The booth is at the corner of Punahou and King streets, in such a position as to have about half of the voters on either side.

WILCOX RECORD EXPOSED

A LETTER TO COMMISSIONER BLOUNT.

Favored a Republic and Opposed the Restoration of the Monarchy in April, 1893—Annexation Club.

The Republicans have duped up another chapter of Robert W. Wilcox's record and are publishing it as a campaign document. It is a letter to Commissioner Blount in which he said he favored a republic and opposed the restoration of the monarchy; also Wilcox's signature to "List No. 1" of the Annexation Club's roll of membership.

The letter to Blount is published in Blount's report, Vol. 2, page 1870 and is as follows:

"Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, April 6, 1893.

"Hon. J. H. Blount,

"United States Commissioner, Etc.

"I beg to submit my scrap book for your inspection, which will shed some light on the motives which actuated me and my associates in the conspiracy of May, 1892.

"You will please notice a letter from Fred. M. Somers to the San Francisco Examiner, under date of May 4, 1892, and also an extract from the Illustrated American of December 20, 1891, and some extracts from the P. C. Advertiser of Honolulu of the month of May, 1892. In the main these statements are correct.

"My chief object was to establish a Republic with the view of ultimate annexation to the United States of America.

"If annexation should be rejected by your Congress, which I hope not, I still believe that a Republic with the closest possible relations, commercial and otherwise, with the United States would be the best for Hawaii.

"The re-establishment of Monarchy, in my humble opinion, ought not to be considered for a moment.

"Most respectfully yours,

"ROBERT W. WILCOX."

Wilcox's Annexation Club pledge and signature as found on the original "List No. 1" is as follows:

"For the purpose of supporting the Provisional Government, and to assist as far as is in our power in securing the Annexation of these Islands with the United States of America, We, the undersigned, agree to unite in the formation of a political organization with that object in view.

"ROBERT W. WILCOX."

Governor Dole and council have decided upon an extra number of booths in the big precincts for the election tomorrow to accommodate all the voters. This arrangement is satisfactory to the leaders of the three parties, and in fact seems to them the easiest way out of the difficulty. Mr. Cooper's plan to have the polls kept open after 5 o'clock, where necessary, was abandoned for the reason that there was no guarantee that there would be no contests.

Acting upon orders of the Governor and Secretary Cooper, Mr. Rowell is engaged today in putting in the extra booths. The second and fourth precincts of the Fourth district are to have three extra booths each, giving them six each. The first and fifth precincts of the same district will have two each, extra, giving them five each. In the Fifth district the seventh precinct will have three extra, giving it six; the eighth two extra, giving it five; the ninth will have one extra, giving it four.

MORE INDEPENDENTS BOLT. James K. Kauai has followed the lead of George Markham and bolted the Independent party. He joins the Republicans. It seems to be a fact that Robert N. Boyd is considering the same step and will probably join the Republicans during the afternoon.

It is believed that there will be, before tomorrow morning, a land-slide from Wilcox into the two other parties.

A safe vote, is a straight Republican vote from Sam Parker to the end of the ticket. Mark only those names who are endorsed by the Republican party.

HEAVY STORM ALL AROUND

One of the heaviest storms reported in some years swept over the islands and channels between them last week, at the same time that Honolulu had a stiff gale, and reports from all directions tell of dangerous weather and hard times for the island fleet.

The steamer China got the full force of the storm in the last days of her trip from the Orient. She showed up off the harbor last night, after a hard trip against the heavy head wind. It cost her a lot of coal and she takes 500 tons here.

On Honolulu the schooner John G. North was blown out to sea. She was at anchor and broke her chain and the gale took her out. At last reports she had not returned.

The steamer Hawaii, which arrived on Saturday, had a boat smashed at Paauhau, and the Ke Au Hou, from the same direction reports a very high wind. The Kinai and Maui also got into the storm. At Honolulu the Ke Au Hou was in serious danger for a time and after leaving she encountered weather that put her in danger of being swamped. At Kahului the bark Carrollton was not able to leave for several days, until she was towed to sea by the Maui.

From Kauai the reports are also of very bad weather. The James M. Keane is reported weather-bound at Hanalei and the Iwalei, Mikahala and W. G. Hall all report a terrific northeast wind.

The Noeau was weather bound several days on the Hamakua coast. The same vessels had the full benefit of the wind, which was from the right direction to bring them in. As a result four of them—the barks C. D. Bryant and Albert from San Francisco, the ship Yola from London and a lumber schooner, showed up at Koko Head in quick succession this morning.

Captain Griffiths reports a twelve-day trip. The Albert had a good wind all the way and she made up a day on the Bryant, which left a day ahead of her.

All Government offices will be closed tomorrow.

THAT TATOR, MARKHAM

WHAT THE INDEPENDENTS SAY OF HIM.

Wilcox Says that Former Secretary was Bribed by the Haole Enemies of the Native Hawaiians.

Robert Wilcox and the other leaders of the Independent party assign the desertion of their former secretary, G. Markham to the Republican ranks to bribery pure and simple. The members of the Independent party were loud in their denunciations of the deserter this morning and all day the headquarters were crowded with indignant natives, who while displaying the unexpected desertion of Markham, were undaunted in their declarations of success for their ticket tomorrow. Yesterday Markham was read out of the party and today the committee were busy raising his name from the legislative ticket and substituting that of James K. Paele who was running independent of all three parties.

The desertion of Markham said Wilcox this morning "was as sudden as it was unexpected. I had not the slightest suspicion that he would do so and only a few minutes before he went over to address the Republican meeting at Charley Achi's house, Markham was talking personally to me and also addressing an independent gathering which was held opposite Achi's place."

"I believe that Markham deserted the Independents because he was bribed to do it. He told me before he did that he had been offered $5,000 by the Republicans to desert me. I did not think anything of it at the time for I supposed he was joking but now I see things differently."

"Markham had been drinking Saturday and it was the first time he had taken any thing for months. I saw that he was under the influence of liquor during our meeting opposite Achi's Saturday night. Markham got up and started to speak. He did not talk as he had formerly done and instead of urging the election of our ticket he started in to say that the Hawaiians should look around and consider how they should vote. They must look out for their interests, he said, and had wife and six children and he had to look after them. Then he began to repeat what he had said, so seeing that he was under the influence of liquor I called to him to cut his speech short which he did."

"Markham came from the direction of Achi's place before this thought and in the presence of Mr. Emmeluth told me that the Republicans had offered to give him $10,000 for deserting me. Markham said 'But that's all right, Robert. They can't bribe me.' I laughed and treated the matter as a joke. After he finished speaking at our meeting he went over to Achi's and there came out in favor of the Republicans."

"There was perfect harmony between Markham and the rest of the party. His name had been marked as one of our candidates for our people to vote for and there was no reason that I can see for him to desert us, except that he was bribed. He was bribed by the Republicans. It is they who have been using corruption in this campaign. They have used money and liquor. There Missionaries came here and gave the Hawaiians to show each other with liquor and now they came in and pay them liquor and money to corrupt them in politics. The Democrats have conducted themselves decently but the Republicans have not, with their bribery and corruption."

"So Markham said that I had sold out for $15,000? Well it's a lie. It's a lie! repeated Wilcox with vehemence. 'I have not sold out and I don't intend to. I am in the fight to stay. They could buy me for $15,000 nor with a hundred thousand. Talk of my selling out to the Democrats. Why if the Prince or any other Prince or Sam Parker were to come to me with an offer to sell out I would kick them out. I am a man of honor and principle. I have not money and principal than all of these white men in this country for they are unprincipled. I have got more honor than any of the white missionary Republicans. I don't believe in selling out and I say every man stay in the fight until the end even if they don't win.'"

Wilcox was asked whether the statement imputed to him at the speech at Brewer's wharf, Saturday to the effect that he was a Democrat for which he had agreed to support the Independents was true.

"No it is not true" replied Wilcox "I was misquoted and I don't see how they got any such thing in the paper. What I said was that these white men were more Democrats. I meant it in a joking way intending to imply that the Democrats had gotten discouraged. I did not say that they had agreed to support the Independents for there has been no such agreement."

Markham was not to be found about town this morning. If he had presented himself within reach of his former political associates it is likely that they would have attempted to mob him.

During all of last week Markham was a daily and frequent visitor at the office of W. C. Achi where one of the Independent nominees is engaged in clerical work.

It was the talk about the Independent headquarters that the desertion of Markham was not due to any grudge or any ebullition of alcoholic spirits but to the good old "mama" to the tune of 4,000 phunks. Conservative people view this as rather a high price to set upon the political head of even so strong an adherent as Markham.

It is only natural that the Independents should feel deep resentment against their former adherent but so far none of them have been able, or at least will admit being able, to discover any evidence that Markham received any money or any promise from the Republicans to desert Wilcox. The Independents say that if the deserter had to come to them he was much more satisfied that it should have fallen when it did, three days before election, than a week earlier as Markham will have scarcely any time in which to take the stump against his former party.

There was some talk of naming Damon in place of Markham but the Independent leaders finally selected Paele as he is a native and was once nominated by the Independents. It was subsequently learned that he was wearing a Parker button and this was taken as an indication that he had repudiated the Independents so his name was removed from the ticket.

In regard to the statement which Wilcox made that Markham was bribed to desert the Independents.

DEMOCRATS IN BAD BLOW

WAILALEALE IN A STORM OFF THE MAUI COAST.

Heavy Seas Over the Little Steamer and the Unterrified All Get Sick—A Long Twelve Miles.

The steamer Wailaleale, with Prince David and party aboard, arrived at Kahului at 1:15 o'clock Friday afternoon, after encountering one of the severest storms that has swept the islands in more than fifteen years. Everyone in the party was completely worn out when land was reached. For eight hours the little steamer had been fighting about on the ocean within twelve miles of her destination, but wholly unable to make it. Friday afternoon she literally dragged into port and landed her passengers in small boats through a choppy sea.

The Wailaleale left Honolulu at 5:30 Thursday afternoon and expected to reach Kahului between 6 and 7 Friday morning. On board were seventeen Democratic spell-binders, including Prince David and the Quintette club. The run to Molokai was excellent except for some roughness in the middle of the channel. At 1 o'clock Friday morning Captain Green said: "We are getting along nicely and will be in Kahului before 7 o'clock." A short time later the steamer Mauna Loa, bound for Honolulu, was sighted and signaled.

Soon after the trouble began the stiff breeze heightened rapidly into a gale and a heavy current set in. Shortly the steamer was plunging wildly and big seas were sweeping the forward deck. This lasted until daylight. With the first peep of dawn Kaanapali and Lahaina were straight off to port. It was then 5 o'clock and the Wailaleale was about twelve miles from Kahului. For nearly three hours although her engines were working at the rate of eight knots an hour, the excursion boat could not have moved three miles. About eight o'clock the Captain pulled in nearer the shore and struck smooth water. In the next half hour the steamer rounded the point at Honokahua, but, alas, struck worse weather than ever before. Immense seas swept all of the deck, up to the four new cabins on the quarter and even flooding them. The top berths in the highest cabin were drenched and the waves swept nearly to the summit of the smokestack. Water surged through the lower cabins, and trickled on the floor of the saloon. Buckets of poi, cases of pickles, boxes of matches, chairs and a dozen other things were hurled from side to side in the saloon and pantry, adding to the din and terror of the situation. The steamer rose and fell with the giant seas, cracking at each three as if she were going to pieces. Her machinery cracked like a baby's rattle, and the water down the smokestack brought up clouds of seething smoke. About 11 o'clock it looked like the little steamer would never pull through. Waves, mountain high, were dashing over every second almost. The boats were sprung from their davits at frequent intervals and the Japanese sailors stood by under shelter and rushed in between waves to replace the staying ropes upon them. One Japanese was caught in a boat just as it was flooded and narrowly escaped with his life. He was only saved by an almost superhuman grip upon a seat of the boat.

Nearly everybody aboard was intensely sick. Prince David did not leave his state room from the beginning of the storm until Kahului was reached. E. K. Likialani, Tom Clark and Morris Keohokole, though frequent sailors, were very sick. "Old Pal Jim" Herman was completely knocked out. He was exceedingly sick for twelve hours or more. The entire Quintette club suffered greatly. For many hours there was not the hint of a song among them. Fred Weed stood everything until the storm came and then went all to pieces. Charles Creighton and a few others, from stomachs before leaving Honolulu, so did not suffer so much.

MARRIED. George Albert Martin and Miss Breta Oona Wheeler were married Thursday evening at the residence of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wheeler. The bride with her parents came to Honolulu about a year ago.

THE CHINA IN A TYPHOON

A TERRIBLE STORM IN JAPANESE WATERS.

The Pacific Mail Liner Flows Her Way Through the Center of One of the Dreaded Typhoons.

Everybody who was on the steamship China on her last trip to the Orient is sure that the typhoon she went through in Japanese waters was about the worst on record and was also just about all the splendid vessel could stand. For seven hours those on board had a highly exciting ocean experience and when it was all over there was quite a bill in prospect for repairs.

The China struck the typhoon on September 27, after leaving Yokohama for Kobe. She was close to land and there was nothing for it but to head the vessel off—and she plowed her way into the center of the terrible storm.

There was a struggle of about
